For most of his 92 years, Jim Gilford was an avid outdoorsman with a passion for fly fishing and upland bird hunting. For over 42 years he was the outdoor writer for the Frederick News-Post. His love for fly fishing led him to become one of the founding members of the Potomac Valley Fly Fisherman, the Mid-Atlantic Council of the Federation of Fly Fishers, a founding member of the Friends of Big Hunting Creek and an active member of the Fly Fishers Club of Harrisburg. He held the position of president with the Eastern Council of the Federation of Fly Fisherman and national president of the Federation of Fly Fisherman. Jim also conducted fly fishing schools for the Fenwick Rod Company for over 30 years. Because of these activities, he came to know many of the leaders of the fishing industry and accumulated a very large assortment of fishing equipment- fly fishing, bait casting, and spinning rods and reels, lures, flies, and other fishing equipment, and a huge amount of fly-tying materials, some of which will be sold in this auction.
